

McKinsey Undergraduate Women's Impact Award

At McKinsey you don't just come to work, you come to change: to change a client's perspective on a challenging issue, to change your growing capabilities into expertise, and to change the world around you. With the McKinsey Women's Impact Award, we celebrate and support women like you who strive to meaningfully change the world.

Award recipients receive $1,500 toward their summer employment, volunteer work, research, or independent project pertaining to the fields of:

- Global public health
- Economic development and opportunity creation
- Sustainability
- Social innovation and technology

Freshman, sophomore, and junior women are eligible to apply. For more information about McKinsey and the Women's Impact Award, please visit:
